TIBURON PENINSULA VILLAGE NEWSLETTER

DECEMBER 2020

Thanksgiving was a lovely day, weather-wise anyway

Check out these great photos from TPV member Nancy Parker who celebrated Thanksgiving at the beach here in Marin.

Aren't we lucky to live in this beautiful place? Despite the disruption of the pandemic, there is always something to be grateful for. I (as in Cherie Sorokin) also celebrated picnic style with my immediate family outside—not at the beach, but on my patio. Paper plates and plastic glasses sure made the clean-up easier!

If you are a TPV member you also received a treat of See's truffles from TPV to help sweeten up Thanksgiving Day. Yum! Another little something to be grateful for in these crazy times. And especially many thanks to TPV volunteers Doug and Dellie Woodring, Bruce Frank, and Matt Masson, who joined with me to make the deliveries to our members! Here are a few pictures from my deliveries to Julie Hannon Friedman, Allan Bortel, and Sally Warren.

LOCAL VILLAGE EVENTS (open to all, unless noted)

TIBURON PENINSULA VILLAGE ANNOUNCEMENTS

Happy Holidays!

It seems early to wish you Happy Hanukkah or Christmas, and we will undoubtedly communicate at least one or two more times before the end of the year, but nonetheless, Happy Holidays. Perhaps they will be less frantic this year since we can't be running around all over the place!

AND MORE...

Are you decorating or baking for the holidays? If so, send us a picture or two to share with TPV members and volunteers. Or maybe a selfie of you dressed up for the holidays in elegant or wacky duds of the season (do you still have reindeer antlers, or sparkled holiday sweaters?), even if no place to go!
