Did You Know?

We have a published poet in our midst!

TPV member Stephanie Mendel has had numerous poems published. Here is one that, while written before the Tiburon Peninsula Village was started, evokes the spirit of our organization: members and volunteers enriching each other's lives in unexpected ways.

He comes Over Mainly to Shape the Ficus

By Stephanie Mendel

now in her 30s and too leafy to ever leave the bedroom. I tell her when he'll be here, knowing she trusts him, even when the shaping is sometimes severe.

We have a routine. He brings the tall ladder up the stairs, careful of walls. I have bags ready for what he prunes, and we talk about what's important in our separate lives, children, global warming, books we're reading. We respect each other, and I remember my mother saying,

Try to be someone else. It took half a century (Where does the time go?) for me to see her through a different lens and, out of the blue, forgive her.
